It has been another busy week in school with all the children working very hard – well done everyone! Year 5/6 had a wonderful afternoon with parents: sharing their learning on their last project, 'How extreme is Mother Earth?' Thank you to everyone who came and shared the afternoon with us.

In the Classrooms:

Donaldson class have been focusing their efforts this week on their project 'The Great Fire of London'. They have been looking at characters and producing some good descriptive writing on what people witnessed during the fire. The children have also been investigating how things grow and they were planting seeds yesterday during the lovely weather.

Dahl class have been producing some great writing this week based on their project 'Can you feed your imagination' and their whole class reading book – Charlie and the Chocolate Factory. Their writing was a newspaper article based on Augustus Gloop winning his Golden ticket.

Rowling Class had a fantastic parents afternoon on Thursday celebrating and showcasing their new knowledge around their project, 'How extreme is Mother Earth'. The children were fantastic and demonstrated an excellent level of knowledge. Parents were also practically involved building structures from cocktail sticks and marshmallows to see if they would withstand an Earthquake (tray of jelly!) The children are now turning their attentions to their new project, 'Can we live on the moon?' and looking forward to starting their project next week.
